INQUIRY IS EXTENDED

SENATE AUTHORIZES INVESTIGATION OF ELEVATORS IN THE NORTHWEST.

COMBINATION SAID TO EXIST

WISCONSIN SENATOR DECLARES THAT CORRUPTION HAS BEEN DISCOVERED.

Washington, June 26.—The senate discussed the conference report on the railway rate bill for more than four hours, but did not dispose of it. It was made evident, however, that another conference will be ordered.

The discussion dealt entirely with the anti-pass and commodity amendments, to both of which objection was made on various grounds. Senator Spooner expressed the opinion that under the pass provision as proposed, senators and members of the house of representatives would not be prohibited from accepting passes and other senators construed part of the provision as in the interest of a discrimination in passes that could be made to take the place of rebates. Senators Tillman and Lodge sharply criticised the change in the commodity amendment so as to prohibit "railroads" and not "common carriers" from engaging in the production of articles to be transported by themselves, as in the interests of the Standard Oil company. Senator La Follette secured favorable action on a resolution extending the inquiry of the interstate commerce commission to the connection between the elevators of the Northwest and the railroads.

System Permeated With Fraud.

Speaking in support of the resolution Mr. La Follette said the country had been astounded at the revelations that had been made in the matter of the combination between the coal producing industry and the railroads and he felt satisfied that the prosecution of inquiry would show as bad a condition in the grain business. He asserted that corruption had been discovered at every place where inquiry had been made and asserted that "the whole system is permeated with fraud." In support of his contentions he said that testimony taken by the commission indicates a joint ownership between the railroads and the elevator companies to the detriment of the farmers, who are entitled to a free and open market. He then gave the names of individuals and corporations which had secured such inside privileges as to give them monopolies along various Western railroad lines.

Senator Hopkins took exception to the conference report on the Niagara Falls international agreement bill in that it does not provide against the treatment of the waters of Lake Michigan as subject to international agreement.

The report was, however, agreed to. About 300 private pension bills were passed.

The senate held a night session and at 9:45 p. m. adjourned until morning.

IMMIGRATION MEASURE.

Passed by the House Without a Yeas and Nays Vote.

Washington, June 26.—Under a rule limiting debate on all but two sections, the so-called immigration bill was discussed for three hours in the house and passed without a yeas and nays vote being permitted on any of the paragraphs. This bill attracted much attention, the representatives having large foreign colonies in their districts lining up generally against the head tax of $5, which was defeated, and against the educational test. After a very interesting contest a substitute for the educational test, providing that the whole matter be submitted to a commission, was adopted by a close vote.

The most important features of the bill were thus eliminated and the bill was passed without division.

At 5:35 p. m. the house took a recess until 8 o'clock p. m. to devote three hours to oratory.

ON BOARD THE METEOR.

Congressman and Mrs. Longworth Take Tea With the Kaiser.

Kiel, Germany, June 26.—On invitation of Emperor William, Congressman and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth took tea with him on board his American-built yacht Meteor in the afternoon. The emperor, attended by Admiral Eisendecker, who visited Washington in 1902 as a member of the suite of Prince Henry of Prussia, received Mr. and Mrs. Longworth as they came alongside and showed them over the yacht, Mrs. Longworth having said that one of the objects of the visit of her husband and herself to Kiel was to see the yacht she had christened Feb. 22, 1902, at Shooters Island, New York harbor.

Mr. Longworth was a guest at the Kiel yacht club dinner at night, at which there were 300 present, including all the high naval officers here. Mr. Longworth had a seat at the emperor's table, and other American guests sat further down. The emperor, as usual, in his toast proposed the prosperity of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Longworth about 10 o'clock went to a ball at the residence of Prince Adelbert. The prince danced with Mrs. Longworth and talked for some time with Mr. Longworth.

PRINCE CARLOS IN PERIL.

Narrowly Escapes Being Killed in an Automobile Accident.

Madrid, June 26.—Prince Carlos of Bourbon, who in 1901 married the late Infanta Mercedes, queen of Spain from the death of her father, Alfonso XII. until the birth of her brother, the present king, had a narrow escape from death while returning to Madrid from Le Granja in an automobile with the Marquis of Mesadoasta. The automobile was overturned and the marquis was seriously injured, but Prince Carlos was not hurt.

Quiet Restored at Panama.

Panama, June 26.—The measures adopted by Secretary Arias to suppress the election disturbances have restored complete tranquility. The American marines did not leave the canal zone. All is quiet throughout the republic.

GOOD WORK ACCOMPLISHED.

The people of this district are fortunate in having a representative in congress who is ever alert to the interests of his constituents and who has worked in harmony with the balance of the Minnesota delegation for the interests of the state. As the historic session of the present congress is just closing the people will be interested in knowing what has been accomplished and where their representative stood on matters pertaining to National legislation. In summing up the record W. W. Jermaine, the Washington correspondent of the Minneapolis Journal, speaks as follows of the work and efforts of the Sixth district congressman:

"Representative Buckman is a member of the committee on Indian affairs, and in that capacity he was able to put the item of $15,000 for drainage investigation in Red Lake reservation into the Indian appropriation bill. Buckman also stood ready to have the committee act on the Minnesota forest reserve boundary question, but the people of Cass Lake delayed so long in expressing their will that nothing could be done. He will push this matter next session and hopes to secure legislation which will settle the controversy which has been on for several years. Local legislation, other than Indian matters, in which Buckman was interested included dam and bridge legislation. Bills were passed authorizing the construction of dams near St. Cloud, at Brainerd, at Pike Rapids, at Clearwater, extension of time for construction of Elk River dam, and at Monticello. In the public building bill, Mr. Buckman secured an appropriation of $10,000 for a site for a public building at Brainerd. The sixth district congressman also favored the transfer of Star Island, in Cass Lake, and for the cutting of timber on the ten sections in the Cass Lake reserve, authority for both being included in the Indian appropriation bill."

Mr. Buckman's vote has been right on every measure, he has been in harmony with President Roosevelt's policy and is entitled to the support of the people of the district for a re-nomination and election at the coming election. Locally, there is every reason to expect that he will receive almost the solid support of his party. He has labored in the interest of every measure that would benefit Brainerd and this locality. His interest in securing for this city an appropriation for a public building should solidify the support for him in the city and county, for to him alone is due the credit that the general appropriation bill reported to the house yesterday carried an item of $10,000 with which to purchase a site in this city and it is altogether probable that the bill will pass as introduced. Mr. Buckman has done in this connection what but few people thought possible, and what the doubting ones said was a campaign promise that would never be fulfilled. He has kept his word given to the people of Brainerd and in return for his successful efforts every citizen who has the welfare of Brainerd at heart should give him their hearty support and we believe they will. The work of getting these appropriation bills in shape covers months of arduous labor by the committees having them in charge, covering as they do the expenditure of millions of millions of dollars, and each item incorporated in them is carefully scanned and discussed and the bills carry nothing for political effect. The gentlemen lend their time and labor and when reported the document is as near perfect as possible and is supposed to be within the limit of the appropriation available. The bill then goes to congress for discussion and final approval or rejection in part or whole, and that is where the bill is today. If the measure is passed with the item referred to above it means that Brainerd will have within its corporate limits a handsome public building that will be a credit to the city and county. If it fails it will be no fault of Congressman Buckman and for the work he has done he will be entitled to the good will of every citizen regardless of politics.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is a powerful, invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. The local, womanly health is so intimately related to the general health that when diseases of the delicate womanly organs are cured the whole body gains in health and strength. For weak and sickly women who are "run-down," "run-out," or debilitated, especially for women who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, and for nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proven a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving powers.

As a soothing and strengthening nerve-tonic, "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous irritability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womanly organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Cures obstinate cases. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of "female weakness," painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus or falling of the pelvic organs, weak back, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration.

Dr. Pierce's medicines are made from harmless but efficient medical roots found growing in our American forests. The Indians knew of these roots and imparted that knowledge to some of the friendlier whites, and gradually some of the more progressive physicians came to test and use them, and ever since they have grown in favor by reason of their superior curative virtues and their safe and harmless qualities.

Your druggist will sell the "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" and also that famous alterative, blood purifier and stomach tonic, the "GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY." Write to Dr. Pierce about your case. He is an experienced physician and will treat your case as confidential and without charge for correspondence. Address him at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., of which he is chief consulting physician.

Insurance Companies Make Raise Of Twenty Per Cent on Stocks of Merchandise TO PAY FRISCO LOSSES

This Is Said to be the Cause of Increase Throughout the Middle States

A rise of twenty per cent is announced in all insurance premiums on stocks of merchandise throughout the state of Minnesota. It is rumored also that the increase is applied to adjoining states. A general agent who was in the city recently is reported to have stated that the insurance companies have got together and decided not to pay over 75 per cent of the losses in any instances in the San Francisco disaster and that in order to recoup themselves from the loss some of them propose to withdraw entirely from the Pacific coast and confine themselves entirely to the eastern and middle states. It is also stated that following the rise on stocks of goods there is a disposition manifested by companies that withdrew from Brainerd a few months ago to again seek business in this city. They are said to realize that risks in small cities and towns, even with poorer fire protection, are less hazardous to their existence than the risks in large business centers where one fire may bankrupt a company.

One of the most prominent events in theatrical circles in this city for the remainder of the season will undoubtedly be the presentation here at the Brainerd opera house July 9th, of the great success "A Message from Mars." This play is reputed to be one of the most interesting comedies that has been seen in the United States for many years. This will be the first presentation in this city.

Dr. A. D. Douglas, dentist of Minneapolis, formerly president of the state board of examiners, will be at the hotel Ransford for 10 days from June 27 to July 7th. He comes highly recommended, and this is an opportunity to obtain first class dental work at city prices.

TRAVELING MEN KICK

Northern Pacific Refuses to Honor Tickets to Brainerd on Train No. 3 Out of Twin Cities

There were several mad traveling men arrived in Brainerd yesterday afternoon. They have always been in the habit of spending Sunday in the cities and leaving there on No. 3, getting in here at 4 o'clock Monday morning to begin their week's work. They went to the trains as usual Sunday night and were told that they should wait until No. 5. They did so and were compelled to wait in Staples all the forenoon, getting here at 2:30 p. m. They feel pretty sore over the treatment and it is expected the St. Paul and Minneapolis Jobbers will take the matter up with the railroad company.

CIRCUS MAN KILLED BY THE TRAIN

Mangled Body Found This Morning on the Northern Pacific Track East of Lurch.

CORONER VIEWS THE BODY

Supposed to Have Fallen from Cars Last Night on West Bound Train.

Coroner Gibson was called to Loerch this morning to view the remains of an unidentified man found on the track two miles east of that place this morning. The man is supposed to have fallen from Gollmar Brothers's circus train on its west bound trip from Aitkin to Perham last night. The body had on a rubber coat said to belong to the circus, which is the reason to think he was an employe of the circus rather than a hobo stealing a ride.

Coroner Gibson went out on a freight and had the body brought here on a hand car. There were no letters or other papers of identification on the body, the rain coat being the only thing bearing a mark. It had been lettered across the shoulders, "Weeder." A negro who left the show train here last night states that he knew the man by sight and first thought he belonged to the horse gang, but after examining the hat found by the body concluded that he was a member of the "razor backs" or unloading gang.

Mr. Gibson states that the body had probably fallen between the cars, one leg or foot catching. The body evidently dragged some little distance as that leg was crushed clear up into the body. The shoe was found some rods farther on and had apparently been wrenched from the foot.

Gollmar Bros. were telegraphed at Perham, but up to the hour of going to press no response has been received.

IS IT FOR THE PLANT?

Company Material Arrives That is Thought to be for the New Tie Treating Plant.

There are four cars of cement in the yards here that it is surmised by railroad men are for the new tie preserving plant. The cement is company material but no orders for disposition of it have been received at the freight house. It is an unusual shipment and there is reason for the belief expressed among railroad men that it is for the foundation for the new plant.

MURDER AT A SHOW

HARRY K. THAW OF PITTSBURG
KILLS A PROMINENT NEW YORK ARCHITECT.

SHOOTING CAUSES A PANIC

TRAGEDY OCCURS AT A PERFORM-ANCE AT MADISON SQUARE ROOF GARDEN.

New York, June 26.—Stanford White, the eminent architect, of the firm of McKim, Mead & White, was shot and almost instantly killed by Harry K. Thaw, a member of the prominent Pittsburgh family, during the performance of the musical extravaganza "Mamzelle Champagne" on the roof of the Madison Square Garden. Mr. White died before an ambulance could be summoned. Thaw was arrested.

The Madison Square roof garden, which has been closed for several years, was crowded the first night with a fashionable audience. While Harry Short, who fills the principal comedy role in the piece, was singing a comic song and the garden was echoing with the laughter and applause of the audience, a series of shots rattled in the front of the auditorium and a man in evening dress was seen to fall across a table at which he was sitting with a party of friends. The man who had fired the shots fled, pistol in hand, toward the nearest exit, where he was seized and disarmed.

Audience Thrown Into a Panic.

Instantly the great audience was thrown into a panic and a wild stampede occurred, during which chairs and tables were overturned and men and women fought with desperation to escape from the roof.

The man who was shot was quickly identified as Mr. White, but his assailant was not positively known to be Thaw until after he had been taken to the station house. Persons in front of the auditorium where the tragedy occurred say they saw a man sitting with a fashionably dressed woman in the rear suddenly walk down toward a table in front.

The first intimation of trouble came when, walking in front of his seated victim, the man exclaimed "you've deserved this. You've ruined my home," and, drawing an automatic pistol, fired three shots. The first two took effect, but as the third was discharged the pistol was struck up by a fireman on duty in the theater and the bullet went skyward.

The woman who had been sitting with Mr. Thaw sprang to her feet and rushed up to him as he was struggling with the fireman and threw her arms about his neck, exclaiming: "I'll stand by you."

The assailant was taken to the West Thirtieth street police station, where he described himself as John Smith, a student, of No. 33 Lafayette Place, Washington, D. C., but the police on searching him found cards and letters addressed to Harry Thaw of Pittsburgh, and later his identity was fully established.

Thaw Was Very Excited.

The shooting occurred at 10:30 p. m., while Harry Short was singing "I Could Love a Million Girls." Thaw had been at the performance all the evening and had been noticed to be very nervous and excited. White had been previously to the Manhattan club and had only been at the Garden a few minutes when Thaw confronted him.

Fireman Bruden took the revolver from Thaw and handed him over to Policeman Dobbs, who placed him under arrest. Thaw handed the policeman $10 and asked him to notify Andrew Carnegie that he was in trouble.

Thaw, it is alleged, said to the fireman: "Deserved what he got. He ruined my life and deserted the girl." While Thaw was being held by the policeman the young woman, who is described as short, slender, dark and very pretty, again put her arms about his neck. Thaw told her to keep quiet and not get excited, as all would come out right.

Immediately after the shooting the curtain was rung down on the play.

The audience for a few moments believed the firing of the shots was a hoax and applauded. But developments came so fast and it was so suddenly made clear that they had been witnessing a tragedy that a panic followed.

Near the End of the Performance.

The performance was drawing to a close and Spice's Big Six, a sort of up-to-date Florodora sextette, came on when Mr. White entered the place. He came from the Manhattan club, where he had spent the earlier part of the evening. He took a seat in the fifth row and on the left side of a table and, leaning over, engaged in conversation with Harry Stevens, the caterer of the garden.

Thaw had been present during the entire performance. With a woman, said to be Mrs. Thaw, he had taken seats at a rear table. He was in evening dress and his overcoat was thrown over the back of his chair. He got up every few minutes and walked about and the spectators later recalled that he had acted very nervously.

The six women on the stage had begun their song when Thaw left his wife and walking rapidly down the aisle, stood for a few minutes right behind Mr. White looking at him hard.

White apparently was utterly ignorant of his peril. Then Thaw quickly pulled a pistol from his trousers' pocket and in quick succession fired three shots. Two took effect, either wound being mortal.

Mr. White, without a sound, slipped down to the floor, the chair and table falling on top of him. The audience broke into a ripple of applause. Two women near by, seeing what had happened and the blood flowing from the man's wounds, screamed. Two of the girls on the stage fled screaming into the wings.

"Get back into your line," roared the stage manager so that all heard him. One of the girls started back, but she again fled to the wings while two of the remaining four, seeing the cause of the trouble, fell over in a faint. The curtain was rung down quickly.

White Instantly Killed.

Several men in the audience rushed to Mr. White's assistance, but the physicians said he had died instantly. As soon as it became possible in the excitement which followed the tragedy, Mr. White's body was taken to his home at 121 East Twenty-first street.

Immediately after the shooting Thaw pointed the revolver in the direction of the stage and then, sweeping it around toward the audience as if attempting to cover his retreat, started for the exit. He was quickly disarmed by Fireman Frank Bruden, who rushed at him regardless of any peril. He said later that Thaw appeared to be dazed and offered little resistance. Henry Rogers, one of the audience, assisted the fireman and together they rushed Thaw to the elevator.

While waiting for the car to come, a matter of a few seconds, Thaw's wife, who was Evelyn Nesbit, a member of the original Florodora sextette, rushed up to him, threw her arms around Thaw and declared: "I'll stand by you, Harry."

In the car that arrived was Policeman Debes of the West Thirtieth street station, who had heard the shooting and cries of the audience, and Thaw was taken by him at once to the police station.

There were several stories of what Thaw did after firing the shots, but a number of men agreed that he had said:

"That — will never go with that woman again."

To Policeman Debes at the Garden he said:

"Well, damn him, he deserved it."

Cooler Man at the Station.

Once in the police station he had apparently recovered himself and had become the least excited man in it. Standing before the sergeant's desk in easy pose, he first calmly took out a cigarette and lighted it.

Answering the usual questions as to name, address, etc., he said he was "J. Smith, thirty-three years old, a student, of 33 Lafayette Place, Washington, D. C."

When searched his identity was confirmed. In his card case were cards engraved with his name, "Harry Kendall Thaw." He had about $250 in cash. Refusing to say a word about the crime and asking that his lawyers, Lewis A. Delafield and Frederick Longfellow, be notified, he puffed his cigarette and was taken back and locked in a cell. The charge against him is murder.

Mystery still surrounds the cause of the tragedy, but its solution may be found in the words attributed to Thaw immediately after the shooting: "Well, he ruined my wife and I got him."

It is known that for years bitter enmity had existed between White and Thaw on account of the former's attentions to Mrs. Thaw, which had begun prior to her marriage.

Mrs. Thaw disappeared in the excitement while her husband was being taken to the station house and up to a late hour could not be found.

At Mr. White's residence it was said that Mrs. White was visiting friends in the West and was expected to return on Saturday.

FATAL QUARREL AT DAVENPORT.

The affray followed a quarrel in which Esberg and Ross had been the aggressors.
